WARSAW MAY BE SAVED. AFTER a three days' tour of the front,

Warsaw correspondent thinks there is still an even chance of saving the city. The brave Russians, it would seem, make it clear that the enemy's advance has not been uniformly successful. For instance, on the Narew front and near Roshan the gains are on the side of our heroic Allies, and on the Vistula front German troops have been thrown back across the river. Apart from the attributes of masterly statesmanship disclosed in the memorable letter of the Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, the missive is a very fine exposition of the forceful character of our language.
