GENERAL NOTES.

The military presence continues to dominate the headlines. Stories of soldiers in action, recovery, and preparation for future duties are common. The Royal Flying Corps is mentioned, indicating the expansion of aviation within the military organization. The presence of a gamekeeper, Mr. Eliwood, adds a personal touch to the news, highlighting the diverse activities and individuals involved in the weekly events.

LOCAL AND OTHER NOTES.

Local events such as the Royal Wesleyan Festival and the Barnard Castle Co-operative Society meeting indicate the community's diverse interests and activities. The mention of a local fund being gratefully received suggests a community spirit of contributing to shared causes.

Our Territorials in Action.

Details of a Territorial unit's activities and experiences in action are shared, providing a glimpse into the realities faced by soldiers. The mention of a Territorial being wounded indicates the vulnerability and risk involved in these missions.

Local Officers Twice Wounded.

The experiences of local officers being wounded highlights the dangerous nature of their duties. The mention of a Territorial returning to active service suggests a sense of resilience and perseverance within the ranks.

Barnard Castle Co-operative Society.

The meeting and activities of the Barnard Castle Co-operative Society are discussed, indicating the community's involvement in cooperative initiatives.

Coming Wesleyan Festival.

The announcement of a coming Wesleyan Festival suggests a cultural event that brings together the community, reflecting the importance of such gatherings in the social fabric of the area.

Marriage.

The mention of a marriage indicates a personal event within the community, showcasing the continuation of traditional and personal aspects of life.

Deaths.

Mementoes and in memoriam notices are shared, offering a personal touch to the newspapers, reflecting the community's respect and remembrance of those who have passed.