LOCAL AND OTHER NOTES.

In recording the death of Colonel William Waltham Stancliffe, which took place at Macclesfield, yesterday week, and who was Coroner and County Justice, Mayor in 1879, and an ex-Aldorman, we recall the fact that the deceased gentleman first shot on Bowes Moor in 1863, under the old ticket system. In 1872 the sporting rights were leased for the first time, at 21,400 a year, and, in the years intervening, Mr Staneliffe continued a "gun," until, in 1882, when he became a lessee, and remained as such until he leased a grouse moor further afield on his own account. It is interesting to note that the first lessees were Messrs T. Walton Ainsworth, James Frederic Buckley, J. O. Burrell, Frank Chapman, Lawrence Hall and John Lee.

Captain Dugdale arrived at Bowes on Friday night, and was engaged point shooting grouse and black game, and shooting pheasants on Saturday and Monday. He left to rejoin his regiment, yesterday morning.

"A few years ago it was declared that Stainton was then without a frying pan," says a correspondent, who asks, "What are we to think now of a town of about 5,000 inhabitants having no bacon ? "

The death from wounds is announced of Lieutenant Ronald Leslie Piper, Indian Infantry, youngest son of Mr and Mrs A. Towrey Piper, of Bexhill, and formerly of Fairfield, Galgate. Barnard Castle. The fine promising young officer was in his 22nd year.

The death is announced of Mr Frank Stanton, third son of the late Mr John Stanton, of Stubb House, Winston, who married a granddaughter of the late Mr John Michell, of Forcett Park.

The Rokeby district has certainly had a mournful time of it lately in the matter of mortality, and on Saturday the death-roll was further swollen by the announcement that Private Maurice Raw, of a Yorkshire Regiment. of Greta Bridge, had died of wounds received in action on October 19th. He was only 19 years of age. Then Mr James Ward, of the Morritt Arms, Greta Bridge, had just received news of his nephew, Edwin Maurice Ward, of Darlington, having been killed in action in France. He was in the Liverpool Regiment, and only went to the front four months ago, although he enlisted in August, 1914. He was a brilliant cricketer, and was much esteemed. Eddie " was the second son of Mr Jonathan Ward, of Darlington, and was only married in July of last year. He leaves a widow and one child. Mr Jonathan Ward lost an elder son about a month ago.

Private Arthur Boddy, of the Durham Light Infantry, elder son of Mr Tom Boddy, of the Fox and Hounds Jun, Cotherstone, visited home last week, after sixteen months' active service, and returned to France on Thursday.

-0-Private J. Simpson, of the Loyal North Lancashire Regiment, son of Mrs Simpson. Galgate, who is a prisoner of war, writes to us from Stammlager, Limburg, as follows : "I am feeling pretty well now. Since I came out of hospital I have felt much better. Of course we cannot be exactly what we were, under these circumstances. We are preparing ourselves for another winter here, or somewhere

Sevon cases will come before the Barnard Castle magistrates, this morning, the average age of three defendants being 74 years. There are charges of infringement of the Defence of the Realm Act.

Mr R. W. Young (pastor) was unable to preach the harvest thanksgiving sermons at the Congregational Church, Staindrop, on Sunday, owing to the death of his son.

Private J. Gibson, of Marwood, who has been on active service with the Durham Light Infantry for two years, has just visited his home on sick leave after being wounded. 0 -

The subscription-list for the 4th Volunteer Battalion Durham County Regiment was closed on 20th October instant, and Mr C. Hedley wishes to thank the following subscribers for their kind donations :-- Messrs F. Wilson, £1 1s.; G. Burt, 10s.; C. B. Martin, 10s.; London Joint Stock Bank, £1 1s. Liverpool Bank, 21 1s.; National Provincial Bank, 21 1s. : Barelay's Bank, 21 1s. ; J. Guy, 10s. 6d.; F. York, 22 2s.; H.W., 10s.; R. Woodhams, 10s.: L. Simpson, 10s.: C Hedley, £1 1s.: total, £11 8s. 6d Mr Hedley has forwarded this amount to Mr Barnard, the local commandant.

DEATH AND FUNERAL OF THE RECTOR OF ROKEBY.

A Kindly-Disposed Gentleman.

Last Wednesday morning the Rev. Francis Robert McMinn Grabam, M.A., died at the rectory, Rokeby, aged 72 years Mr Grabam, whose wife predecessed him a few years sgo had been ill for some months, and had been attended by Dr. Robinson. The deceased Rector was a very kind and courteous gentleman, and took an active interest in the affairs of the parish, and in the social and religious life of the people. He had travelled a good deal, and, possessing a retentive memory, had a somewhat extensive knowledge of men and things. He was much esteemed in the district for his many amiable qualities, he having composed and rendered songs at local concerts. The deceased gentleman was born near Damascus, and formerly resided at 71, Kensington Gardens Square, London. He was late scholar of Lincoln College, Oxford, third-class moderations, 1868; Taylorian Scholar, 1869; Bachelor or Arts, 1874; Master of Arts. 1886; deacon, 1872; priest, 1873; a licensed preacher in the diocenes of Canterbury, London and St. Albans, 1901; formerly Curate of Dromore Cathedral, 1872-74; Rector of Garvagby, 1874-76; Vicar of Carrowdore, 1876-82; Curate of Ballymacarrett, 1883-86; Dundels, 1886-92, all in County Down; and Rector of Stanningfield, Suffolk, 1892 95. Mr Graham then lived retired in London for fifteen years, and was inducted to the living of Rokeby, which is the gift of the Lord Chancellor, at the latter end of 1911.

The interment took place in Rokeby Churchyard on Saturday afternoon, the remains being placed beside those of his late wife. The departed clorgyman was buried in his cassock, surplice and stole. The undertakers were Messrs T. Borrowdale and Son, Barnard Castle, the ocfin being of polished eim, with heavy brass mountings. On the breastplate was the inscription : Reverend Francis Robert McMinn Graham, M.A., died October 241b, 1917, aged 72 years. Resting on a catafalque in the chancel, and surmounted by a pall of ecclesiastical purple, the coffin had been in the church overnight, and at half-past two a procession of the following local clergy entered the church at the south door :- The Rev. E Scencer Gough, Rector of Barningham and Rural Dean of Richmond North; the Rev. A. W. Sewart, Rector of Brignall; the Rev. A. L. Manby, Vicar of Startfortb ; the Rev. J.W. Brert, Vicar of Laitbkirk; the Rev. A. W M. Close, Vicar of Hutten Magna; the Rev. C. H. Hutchinson, Rector of Wycliffe; and the Rev. E. E. Wilkin-sor, Carate of Romaldkirk. The Rural Dean, as the clergy moved up the aisle, impressively read the opening sentences of the beautiful service appointed for the burial of the dead, Mr W. H. Oatterall having just played a short funeral dirgs on the organ. The Rector of Brignall read the 90th Pasim, and the congregation, led by the organ and choir, feelingly cendered Newman's beautiful appeal for divine guidance and protection as embodied in the well known byon, " Lead, kindly Light, amid 'be encircling gloom, lead Thou me on.'

UPPER DALE NOTES.

[BY OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.] Successful Concert and Sale for Mickleton" Soldiers' Benefit Fund.

That newly coined though much used phrase, I would like to do something for the lads in khaki," was put to the test at Mickleton on Thursday, and the hearty respice which answered the appeal proves beyond doubt the genuine sympathy lying behind the outward expression. On the afternoon of Thursday a jumble sale was held in the Church Institute. and the collection of useful articles offered soon found a ready sale. This was followed to the evening by a concert, and, despite the frowning elements, a good company turned out to listen to the voice of song, and for a brief spell forget their daily thought and arduous toil. With the singing of the National Anthem, Miss Beal, of Romaldkirk, took charge of a varied programme, which was exceedingly well rendered by the following artistes :-- Mrs Beadle, Mrs G. V. Tarn, Mrs Jenks, Misses L Piokney, E. Gowling, A. Hunt, and Messre H. Jonks, G. V. Tarn and F. Lowe. Miss Letitia Pinkney and Mrs G. V. Tarn were the accompanists. During the evening Miss Beal, in a brief address, made a touching appeal for the soldier lads, and urged all to do their utmost to mitigate their sufferings. At the close the thanked the performers, and spoke of the pleasure she berself had enjoyed while listening to the very excellent programme that had been rendered. The one disappointment of the evening was the anavoidable non-appearance of Mr Hodgeon, the Harwood humorist. - Mr G. V. Tarn, in his usual genial manner, asked for a hearty send-off for Mr Jenks, who is going to France. This was readily responded to, Mr Jenks having made many friends by his willingness to help in every good cause.-Mr Jenks, in replying, said he was leaving with very pleasant recollections, and hoped to come back and take up matters where he had left then.-The Rev. J W. Brent, in a few wellchosen words, thanked Miss Beal for presiding, and voiced the opinion of everyone by saying what a pleasure it was to have so highlyesteemed a friend upon the platform .- The result of the day's proceedings, which constitutes a record, will again be utilised in providing comforts for the largely increased number of local soldiers. The whole of the arrangements were in the hands of a committee, comprised of the following ladies: Mrs Lowe, Misses Dowson, Longstaff and Walton.

Several local soldiers have been on furlough from France during the week, including Guoner J.W. Collinson, R.F.A., Harker Springs, West Pasture ; Private W. Walton, West Ead, Mickleton; Private J. Baum. California Row, Middleton; and Driver J. Raine, Hude, Middleton.

A whist drive was held in the Mechanics' Institute, Middleton, last Wednesday night, in aid of the institute funds. A good company gathered. The following were the priz winners :- Ladies -1st, Miss Lily Nixon ; 2 id, Miss E. Watson; 3rd, Mrs T. Nixon; sealed prize, Miss D. Ward. Gentlemen-let. Mr G. Longetaff; 2nd, Mr G. A. Thompson ; 3rd, Mr J Collinson. Messrs M. Richardson and H. Heelis acted as masters of coremonies.

Earlier Closing at Barnard Castle.

Meeting of Tradesmen's Association.

A special meeting of the members of the above association was held on Friday night.

Teesdale District Girl Guides.

The Girl Guides of the Teesdale district received a visit on Saturday, October 20th, at Romaldkirk, from their District Commissioner, Mrs Ernest Pease, and Lady Havelock-Allan, District Commissioner for D. rlington. The following troops were present : - 1st Durhams (Romaldkirk), 12th Durhams (Barnard Castle), 22nd Darhams (Staindrop), and 43rd Darhams Mickletop). A number of the local commitcees were also present. The Commissioner, attended by Lady Havelock-Allan, and Mrs. Addison, District Commissioner for Tersiale, first received the sainty and then inspected she girls, with whom she expressed great satisfaction. This was followed by the enrolment of the new Mickieton troop, the presentation of proficiency badges, and some displays in ambuiance and signalling, in which latter ait the Barnard Castle Brownies attracted much attention by their clever display. Mrs. Perse then gave the girls a charming little adaress on their name, "Girl Guides," and on their motto, "Be prepared." She announced that Mrs Addison would in future take over the duties of Division Commissioner for Teesdale, which will be a separate division. Mise A. Mills was appointed staff captain. Is is hoped that before the next inspection the Fousdale Guides will be doubled, as troops will start shortly in Middleton and Several other places. The division extends from the borders of Westmorland to West Auckland and Winston.

Soldiers' Farewell Social.

On Wednesday, Ostuder 10th, a social evening was held in the Soldiers' Recreation Rom at which they were upwards of 250 solviers present. Inere were games, and vocsi and instrumental music was rendered duing the evening, Mrs Frankilo presiding at the piano. Mrs Parkinson and Miss Barker, alo. g with those ladies who had assisted them in he Recreation-room during the stay of the 16th York and Lancaster Regiment in the town, served the men with refreshments and cigarettes. Mr J. E. Dent acted as chairman, and a most enjoyable eveni: g was spent.

BARNARD CASTLE MAN REPORTED KILLED.

NEPHEW OF THE PREMIER OF WESTERNAUSTRALIA

The circumstances attending the death of Lieutenant Maurice Wilson, the younger son of Mrs Wilson, of the Grove, Barnard Castle, disclose heroism and tender care for a comrade. Lieut.-Colonel H. Gordon Carter, commanding an Australian Pioneer Battalion, in communicating the mournful intelligence to his mother. expresses deep sorrow and sympathy, and says Lieut. Wilson has been missing since the 8th inst. He adds : "I have hesitated to write before, as I had hoped that we may have had information about him ere this; but there is little doubt now. He was last seen in a dugout patching-up a wounded man. Our party with which Lt. Wilson was working, had been making a trench in the vicinity and the place was fairly heavily shelled. It was decided to move away from the area, and our men accordingly moved off. The last man saw Lt. Wilson in this dugout attending to a wounded man of another regiment. Ho said, 'I will be along in a minute.' There were several men of other British regiments sheltering in these dug-outs as our men left. When our men collected again, about half-an-hour later. Lt. Wilson had not arrived, and, after waiting, a search party was sent back. They found no trace of Lt. Wilson or of anybody else in the vicinitythe dugout where he had been seen was quite empty. Other search parties were sent out to look about the locality, and I sent messengers to the Casualty Clearing Stations, but have been able to obtain no news. We can only therefore come to the conclusion that he has been killed. He had been with us since the early parts of the year, and has been a most reliable officer." 'The deceased gentleman was well known at Barnard Castle, and was in this town on leave early in August. He tried three times to enlist on the outbreak of the war, but was refused. Eventually, however, he was accepted. At the commencement of hostilities in 1914, he wrote to his mother in these words : "What a terrible thing this war is. But Australia will see it through. They erch. Implements and gears were sold at high s rmons were preached to good congrega-are prepared to come to the last man." prices. are propared to come to the last man.

The committal sentences were spoken by the Rector of Brignall, and the Rura! Dean pronounced the benediction at the graveside.

The beaters were Messrs W Bowlzer, R. Brunskill, J. Moss, R Dobbin, A Nicholson and W. Oliver.

Among many others present were Mr J J. Bell-Irving, Colonel Richardson, Rokeby Grove; Captain and Mrs Berry, Wyoliffo Hall; he Rev. H Straker, Vicar of Bowes; Mr J. H. Hulmes, Mr G. White, Dr. Robinson, Mr Cecil Nicholson, Mr J. Rohson, Mr James Ward, Mrs. Catterall, Mrs T. and Miss Borrowdale, Nurse logie, and Mr M. Mynoth

Included in the lovely floral tributes were a shaft of Madonna lilles from Miss Geraldine Grabam; lovely crosses from his faithfu' ourse, and M. Mynott, resident gardener, and Mrs B. Moss: dear uncle Francis, with deepest love from Vivinne and Leonard; heliotrope floral tribute from Mrs Arthur Richardson ; loving remembrance from Mrs G. Forbes Bassett; token of friendship and deep regard, Mrs J. J. Bell-Irving and Miss Vera Piercy ; in st sctionste remembrance, Mrs Jenkins; in affectionate remembrance from his loving brother and sister, Dr. and Mrs John Campbell Graham; teken of respect from his old friend, James Campbell, Jonnymount Mills, Bolfast; Mrs Sewart, Brignall, deepest sympathy; and a sweet souvenir from Captain and Mrs Berry.

A very large congregation of mourners and friends attended a solemn service in Rokeby Church on Sunday, in memory of the Rev. F. Graham, Walter Dowson and Maurice Raw. The Rev. F. L. Brereton, M.A., conducted the service, and in a very elequent and appropriate sermon made touching reference to the losses of the parisb. The hymns sung were "Lead. kindly light," "On the resurrection morning" and "Thy will be done." The "Dead March" was played after the Benediction, the congregation all standing.

Primitive Methodist Church Anniversary Services.

Lecture on "The Angular Man."

The church anniversary services in connection with the local Primitive Methodists were celebrated on Thursday, when the Rev. W. Barton, of Darlington, preached in the afternoop, and, in the evening, under the genial presidency of Dr. C. B. Robinson, delivered an interesting lecture, entitled "The Angular Man."-Mr Barton, in a thoughtful lecture, which was characterised by a sense of bumour, said that angles were such a commonplace that if there were none it would perhaps be better if some persons were out of the world altogether. But there were some whose knees, elbows, and bones were constantly abutting into society so that they became a nuisance, and a rounding off was necessary. After an allusion to the cantankerous map, the Lecturer dwels upon the angularity of the pessimist, and the man who only formed the opinion of his own self. Then there was the person-often found in the pulpit-who dealt in large sentences and dead languages, and was never complete without a Latin phrase or a Greek tag. There was also the man of personal vanity, as shown in the German Emperor, and which was also depicted in Frederick the Grest, who wanted to give everyone who came within reach of his cane a good hiding. The Kaiser was seeking world domination, and there were some who were now calling for peace by negotiation, but, asked the speaker, how can he be trusted by any honest man when he was not honest bimself? And, declared Mr Barton, "the devil will have to be very careful or else the German Emperor will have him off his throne." (Laughter). There was again the man who was admired and followed. They all remembered Lord Robert's great march to Kandahar, but they sometimes forgot the men who made that march possible. Loyalty was loyalty when shown by Sir Douglas Haig, but it was no less loyalty when shown by "Tommy" in the trenches. Burther, there were, amongst several others, those who could not be confided to the narrowness of the trodden ways of life, but who burst forth into paths unknown to make tracks wherein others may follow. Jesus Christ had made a way that others may follow unto salvation. People often talked about getting back to Ourist, but, declared Mr Barton, they must gird up their loins and press forward, for He was yet a long way before them.-On the proposition of the Kev. O. H. Lightfoot the Lecturer and Chairman vere beartily thanked .- The services were c ntinued o. Sunday, when two excellent
