native of Barnard Castle (his brother, who is serving his country, and who has lately been at home on furlough, being the proprietor of the Commercial Hotel), had been out almost from the beginning of the war, and had taken part in a number of the biggest battles. He was a right good soldier, and very popular. He leaves a widow and two children to mourn his loss. THE Rev. W. Parker Wilton officiated at a private service at Gainford on the anniversary of Mrs Edleston's death. Mr Edleston, Dr. and Mrs Naylor, Mr Charles Tennick and Mr George Taylor attended. At a similar service the following day the Rev. T. C. Gobat officiated. The officiating clergymen wore the violet cape, and Dr. Naylor played at the services. THB first expressions of the newly-chosen minister of Hall-street church are interesting. In the morning the Rev. David Barrat preached from the words : "Forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before." He'did in the notice are judicated the pressing forward to present-day high achievements in spirittal aims. In the evening Mr Barran preached from the text: "Jesus saith unto them, 'My meat is to do the will of Him that forward to present-day high achievements in spiritual aims. In the evening Mr Barran preached from the text: "Jesus saith unto them, 'My meat is to do the will of Him that sent Me, and to finish His work,' and the Preacher developed the three thoughts of Christ's chief interest in life : His glorious source of strongth ; and His supreme delight and added : "Unless we have some inward principle, some constraining conviction, deep, sure and firm, we never can do the Master's will. It is the secret nourishment of the soul which feeds and determines outward manifestations ; and that church is most divine, that discontented with ourselves, thirsting after and aspiring to a better and a higher life. Religion was the Master's chief concern. Let it be ours."

Among the most cherished documents left by the late Second-Lieutenant Stembridge is a copy of an address delivered by Brigadier-General Shea, extolling the fighting qualities of the Territorials. The sentences are most encouraging to young soldiers. The General said, in the course of his address: "What has struck me most is the spirit shown under most trying circumstances and hardships, by you, my boys, which has never been beaten. Your spirit was too great and strong." Second-Lieutenant Stembridge, it will be remembered, was at one time employed at the local stores, subsequently going to Middles-brough. On the outbreak of the war he joined the 6th Durham Light Infantry as corporal, having previously served in the Territorials, and had just left them the summer before. Irs Norman Field, in connection with the Proceeding to France in April, 1915, he was promoted to the rank of sergeant, being subsequently made company sergeant-major in 1916, and later in the same year cause home and married a daughter of Mr John Taylor, hairdresser. In January the followiug year he again came to England to take a commission, leaving for France in August as secondlieutenant with the Yorkshire Regiment. He was home on leave as lately as last August.

Hedley, a visitor to the town, named Thomas Berry, was charged with failing to rejoin bis regiment under the Beserve Forces Act of 1882. He pleaded not guilty. The date of th offence was the 5th of October. The facts are unusually interesting. Superintendent Riddell said he received a telegram that through to prove their case, otherwise he will be taken down to his camp at Avington. Mr J. T. Knowles, who was present at the remand, saked permission to be heard. He did not approve of the Superin-tendent pressing for a fine. Supt. Hiddell said he had by no means pressed for a fine. All that he had done was to tell the magistrates that they had power to inflict a fine, and the usual course for justices to adopt was to impose a fine of 40s. Prisoner : I am still under sentence of two years' hard labour.

labour. Mr Hall said the law was quite clear that a fine of 40s and not exceeding £35 could be imposed. The Bench, however, had decided to remand the accused for a military escort. 'You can first out the question of your notice when you get to Avington Park, Winchester."

MISS WILSON, 1, Victoria-terrace East, Barnard Castle, has received notice from the Record Office at York informing her that a report had been received from the War Office notifying the death of her youngest brother, Joseph Pearson Wilson, of the Yorkshire Regiment, who was killed in action on the 29th of September. Private Wilson, who was a son of the late Mr Robert Wilson, contractor, and brother to Mr F. J. Wilson, of Victoria-terrace

East, was in the same battalion as Second Lieut. Stembridge, and they met in the trenche and conversed together a few days before they were both killed. Private' Wilson, who was only twenty years of age, was in the employ-ment of Mr C. Harker when he was called to the colours. He had excellent prospects, he being naturally clever, and had the advantage of a collegial education. Much sympathy and commiseration are extended to the family.

THE proceeds of the entertainment of the Bramhope Branch Choir of the National Children's Home and Orphanage, London, given in the Witham Hall, on Thursday night amounted to the handsome sum of £38 10s. Mr R. T. Richardson presided. All assisting friends are sincerely thanked.

nationis. ON TO BERLIN !- Now that we know exactly what the position is, we, as a nation, have to steel ourselves for the final bitter struggle, and possibly greater sacrifices. Beyond a doubt the fighting will increase in intensity and forceness as the Allied armies creep nearer to the Rhine. With these facts in mind, the question of protection for our soldiers acquires an added importance. That a large measure of protection is possible is amply evidenced by the fact that The County Chemical Co., Ltd., are now publishing testi-monial No. 247 in connection with their "CHEMICO" BODY SHIELD AND SHRAPNEL JACKET. Every Britisher with a soldier on active service should, for two reasons, patriotic and humane, know exactly what this Shield "has done" in this terrible war, in order to appreciate fully what it "can do."
