UPPER DALE NOTES.

Mr and Mrs G. W. Gray, of 42, Granville-terrace, Binchester, celebrated their silver wedding at the above address on New Year's Day.

CONSOLENTIOUS LARTINGTON! A memorial to our fallen heroes is at once truly a Christian duty. Amidst the rejoicing on Westingday which have taken place since the armistice was signed, one is apt to forget too readily those who have fallen in the conflict.

THE Urban Council, during the war, having spent less than half the total sum expended on the main roads in the district in 1913-14, and preceding years, have instructed the Surveyor to prepare a financial statement with a view of participating in Government grants in this behalf.

CAPT. A. G. ALLAN, D.S.O., M.C. (who was before the war the articled pupil of Mr J. Ingram Dawson, solicitor, Barnard Castle), is now Brigade-Major of an Infantry Brigade in France.

THE benefit football match at Barnard Castle on New Year's Day resulted in a decisive win for the 10th York and Lancaster eleven by 4 goals to 1.

THE only business at the Barnard Castle Police Court, this morning, is to receive the report of Mr Nixon, the probation officer, and to re-appoint him. Allusion, of course, will doubtless be made to the death of the late presiding magistrate.

THE recent examination of the Royal Academy and Royal College of Music held at Bishop Auckland, Frances Pudsey (Lower Division) and Dorothy Donaldson (Elementary Division), pupils of Miss M. J. Arrowsmith satisfied the examiners in pianoforte playing.

LAST Thursday night the non-commissioned officers and men of the Teesdale Detachment 4th Volunteer Battalion Durham Light Infantry dined at the King's Head, at the invitation of their Commanding Officer, Lieut. L. H. Barnard.

THE local Volunteer movement, and congratulated Lieut. Barnard on the really excellent work done during the war.

THE funeral also took place at Middleton, on Thursday, of Mrs Hannah Hobson, Spring Hill, at the age of 82 years.

FUNERAL OF LORD BARNARD.

SIMPLE AND IMPRESSIVE OBSEQUIES.

(BY OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

THE funeral of Lord Barnard will ever be memorable in local history as having in its inception the characteristics of impressiveness, simplicity and deep solemnity. It is in reversal of the conventionalities of dual sepulchre which are associated with the last rites of successive noblemen who were his predecessors in title, and who expired in the same feudal abode, the late Lord of Raby has set his seal and manual upon the unobtrusive burial of the dead.

THE melancholy death, from exposure, of a Teesdale Rockmaster, is now being accounted for, and has recently been the subject of a list of dalemen victimised by the pelting, pitiless storm of the bleak and nakedly uplands. Aye, canonic sagely figures in the moorland tragedy as in other darksome and similar happenings, for was it not Alexander Pope, in his imperishable essay, who said, "sin neither waits for the rain, nor is it wretched within the veil. The dewless took place on Saturday, under painful circumstances, of Mr Wm. Watson, Blant House farm, Middleton.

THE only business at the Barnard Castle Police Court, this morning, is to receive the report of Mr Nixon, the probation officer, and to re-appoint him. Allusion, of course, will doubtless be made to the death of the late presiding magistrate.

LOCAL AND OTHER NOTES.

MAJOR VINCENT SMITH, A.S.C., youngest son of the late Mr John Smith, J.P., Barnard Castle, has been awarded the Order of the British Empire, Military Division, for distinguished war services in Egypt and Palestine.

CAPTAIN A. H. BROCK, formerly Superintendent of Police at Bishop Auckland, and prior to that a police constable at Barnard Castle, has died in Ripon Camp from double pneumonia.

TO-DAY, a masonic service in memory of the late Lord Barnard, Provincial Grand Master of the Province of Durham, will be held at Durham Cathedral, at 3 p.m., conducted by the Dean of Durham, P.G. Chaplain of England, assisted by the Bishop of Durham and others.

THE Woodland Beagles will meet on Saturday, January 11th, at Mickleton, at 11.30.

MR WILLIAM NELSON, following his annual custom, generously entertained to dinner and tea at Mrs Atkinson's, Galgate, last Thursday, the agents who have been working under him for the last four years, as Superintendent of the Prudential Assurance Company for the Teesdale district, on the occasion of his transference and promotion from Barnard Castle to Berwick. The special feature of the gathering was the presentation to Mr Nelson of an inkstand for himself, and a lady's bag for the presentation, referred to the splendid work Mr Nelson had done in connection with the Primitive Methodist Church at Barnard Castle, and deeply regretted the necessity of his departure from the district. Mr Nelson suitably responded, and specially referred to the amicable relationship which had existed between him and his staff.

THE Hutton Magna rainfall for 1918 shows that the total rainfall for the year amounts to 32.25 inches, being 12 inches under the average for the last ten years. September was the wettest month, with 5.68 inches, and June the driest with 0.26 inches. July 20th was the wettest day, with 1.83 inches. Rain fell on 172 days, of which 13 included snow or sleet. Of the eleven 20th days of the month, only two were wet. The coldest day of the year was January 13th, with 20 degrees of frost.

THE portrait of J. Brogden (temporary assistant signalman, Barnard Castle), appears in the current issue of the "North Eastern Railway Magazine." He died at Bedford of pneumonia on November 4th, 1918, while serving with the forces. He joined the North-Eastern Railway in August, 1915, as platform boy porter at Musgrave.

THE funeral also took place at Middleton, on Thursday, of Mrs Hannah Hobson, Spring Hill, at the age of 82 years.

THE local Volunteer movement, and congratulated Lieut. Barnard on the really excellent work done during the war.
